

ATROCITIES BY THE ITALIANS

English and French Writers Send Terrible Tales from Tripoli

SAY THE ITALIANS SOUGHT REVENGE

Hundreds of Dead Piled Together in Horrible Attitudes.

London, Nov. 3.—The agitation against the alleged atrocities by the Italians in Tripoli conducted by the British press and supported by a few members of the House of Commons since under pressure of events received from English newspaper correspondents concerning the recent occurrences in Tripoli, received fresh impetus tonight through a telegram received by a news agency from Herbert H. Smith, a second lieutenant of the fifth Royal Engineers.

Leaf, Moustache telegraphed from Zoueklynah by way of Delibat, on the frontier of Tunis as follows: "I feel my duty to send to you the following statement from an Englishman in the name of Christianity to publish it against England. I am an English officer in the British army. I have seen the Turkish army here. As you know already all the terrible repressions which the Turks and Arabs have inflicted on the Italians, I will only express my admiration for their bravery and fortitude. I am not a Christian, nor the heart of any Englishman, or any true soldier in the world. Imagine my feelings when I have seen the Turks inflicting the Italians out of Arab houses which had fortifications and were held by 100 men. I have seen some 120 women and children with their hands and feet bound, mutilated and beaten. I have seen men with their hands and feet bound, mutilated and beaten."

"Lies on at the name of the town was lost in a train, we were bound and beaten with bodies of women and children, mutilated and beyond recognition. I could not count the number of dead. There must have been three or four hundred. In this European war where such horrors are common, I have seen the Turks do something to stop such horrors in our civilization and times. You will be shocked to hear that it is true, nevertheless, I myself have seen it. I know."

"The Italians when they slaughtered the innocents obviously was one of revenge for their loss. I am not a Christian. At this moment under a heavy shrapnel fire, so you must excuse me if the sentiments are not strong. I have seen it. I have seen it."

Leaf's signature is dated November 2nd.

Friendly Correspondent.

Paris, Nov. 3.—M. Rossetta, a special correspondent of the Excelsior, writing from Tripoli, has sent to us the following: "But I must instinctively appreciate the fact that Tripoli has just been the theatre of the reddest drama in history."

He says: "I cannot rid my eyes of it. I am still tormented by the scenes with family and night. Withister grandiloquence the canon proclaims, but it was not true. It was death. It was none. But it was not this that upset me. For we were at war, and before calling hell down upon the fortifications of the wounded and the sight of the dead, but who could have expected the moment when I had to look down the rib of an assassin, the backbone of men, women and children, cut out."

Bossera goes on to recount scenes of which he was an eye witness. "An Arab soldier, who had been captured, was beaten. We were four brothers, now I am alone, but I must have two more to come."

"While going away from the cavalry post, I came upon a hundred corpses thrown in a heap. They had been shot down in horrible attitudes, all mixed up together."

"I took a few steps and started away to find myself near a prison hospital. The professor had been very kind to us, but he was a good officer. Every one of them had been shot, and the walls were hospitalized."

"The Italian continues the correspondent: "have executed 4,000 Armenians, 400 Greeks and 1,000 children. Children are rapidly spreading among the Arabs and Jews. No room exists in the city for the execution of the Armenians, and their arrival must further increase the ravages of the choicer."

REVOLUTIONISTS FIRE

ON JAPANESE FLAG

Explain That Ship Was Filled With Munitions of War for Imperial Troops and Carried the Flag Only
As a Breeze.

San Francisco, Nov. 4.—According to a dispatch received from Shanghai today by the Chinese Free Press, the revolutionists explain their act in firing on a ship carrying the Japanese flag by saying the vessel was filled with munitions of war for the imperial troops and merely carried the flag as a breeze.

The revolutionists are said to be occupying the province of Kwangtung, where Canton is the capital. The army is marching on Canton. The metropolis of the province, to invade the district of Shu Hing, Canton province. The revolutionists have received cables confirming the news that the people of Yu Nan province have joined them, and also the popular movement of the native city of Shanghai by the revolutionaries.

Revolutionaries at Hankow.
Hong Kong, China, Nov. 3.—Delayed news from Hankow sent via Wusong describes the situation there on the night of Nov. 2 as follows:—
An enormous conflagration was sweeping over the city and fields, was in progress, involving thousands and thousands of houses of rebels and loyalists. Imperial batteries were driving shells into the city, while rebels on the other side of the river had brought long range guns into play. The Wu Chang fleet, which had been sent to attack the loyalists posts. The fighting was clearly visible from the European concessions, and several shells dropped in the British concession, but without doing serious damage.

Steps Being Taken to Keep Young Boys Out of the Penitentiary.

Winnipeg, Nov. 2.—"Ralph Connor" is interesting himself in a petition to the Manitoba legislature, which he expects will be signed by many influential Winnipeggers asking for the release of John Edward and Gordon Nagle, condemned at St. Boniface Mountain penitentiary for their role in the U.S. revolution. The petitioners note that considering their age and responsible position, the two young men should not be held in the penitentiary but should be given a chance to make amends and points out that contact with habitual criminals will stain them for a life of crime. Passenger Train Crashes at Full Speed.

Melbourne, Nov. 1.—A mail train running between Sydney and this city met with a disaster shortly after midnight. Although one of the passengers was killed, all were saved. The train was crowded with passengers who were on their way to this city to witness the races for the Melbourne cup, and most of them were near their berths when the train, running at full speed, crashed into a stock train at a junction. The mail train was sent to Sydney from Goulburn. The impact was terrific and the passengers were thrown from their berths. The locomotives were derailed, and the train was forced to a standstill. It is said, however, by a miracle, that no one was killed and that the goods train was badly damaged.

SETTLEMENT NORTH OF THE PEACE RIVER

early. He has grown a couple of acres of timothy with success, but with grain and grass, he thinks the tame grasses are hardly worth while.

The Carson family is on the flats. The Peace River, which the creek empties into the Peace, has a capacity of 200 cubic feet of water per second. At the Peace it decends 600 or 700 feet in two and a half miles from its source in the Rockies. It never freezes, running the year around, for the snows never freeze, even in the coldest weather.

Mr. Carson says if the creek was not there he would not be here. A natural mineral spring is located in the bottom of the depression where the springs are located, and a pipe line laid down the 600 feet high to a point of the future location of the Peace River Dam.

An irrigation ditch has been dug alongside the stream and water thus conveyed in a small open ditch to the Cabin Creek, which is used for domestic use, for watering the live stock and for supplying the steam engine for the pumping of water into the irrigation ditches to water the crops. But he has not much time.

Mr. Carson also operates a flour mill, with a capacity of 150 pounds per hour, which is run by a motor and a gasoline engine, the same engine is used for threshing, crimping, thrashing, wood and making shingles.

Cattle are raised in great numbers well, but all are killed to the local trade. He has a herd of 50 head of cattle, and since buying a team, the same engine is used for threshing, crimping, thrashing, wood and making shingles.

The citizens and settlers of Peace Crossing have organized the Peace River Irrigation Association, with the following officers: George McLeod, president; Rev. J. C. Clark, vice-president; J. Lynn, 1st vice-president, and H. A. George, 2d vice-president.

The Peace River is operated by the Hudson Bay Co. from the canon mouth to the Peace River crossing, 12 miles down stream to the chute below Vermilion. It is a steep wheel stream, 100 feet wide, and is navigable by a 120 ft. steam engine.

The Hudson Bay Company has a concession to the Hudson's Bay Co.

BUSINESS SECTION OF LONDON SWEEP BY FIRE

Disastrous Fire in Western Ontario City—Loss is Estimated $750,000—Several Hundred People thrown Out of Employment—No One Injured.

London, Ont., Nov. 3.—The most devastating fire in a quarter of a century swept through a portion of the business district of this city this morning. The loss is reported to be at least $750,000, or a million dollars. Several hundred people are thrown out of employment.

At six o'clock six places were burned out: the Purdon Hardware, a large grocery store, a flour and grain dry goods store, Brewster & Room, and Corlett & Co.

At 6:30 a. m. when a squad of night policemen were returning to the station to be relieved after their midnight duty, they saw the smoke and flames began to show signs of lessening in intensity.

The walls crashed in, the windows shattered, and the flames were shooting through the building.

Breathes arrived, when the streams were turned on the base in very rapid succession, the water ran into the Kinsella's dry goods store, and in an incredible short time the building was gone.

Policemen were in constant danger of falling walls, but no one was seriously injured.

Gunpowder Removed.

Fire Chief Aiken remembered that in 1904 a gunpowder explosion in a store, at the rear, on Cartier street, was a lot of gunpowder and oil stored, and he sent some of his men down to bring the stuff out, but the store had not been burned down so soon they then set themselves to the task of extinguishing the blaze.

When the fire was received the property was a scene of utter desolation.

Shortly after that the water which had been turned on the base in the flames began to show signs of lessening in intensity. The walls crashed in, the windows shattered, and the flames were shooting through the building.

Fire Under Control at 8 a. m.

The fire was practically out, but the Purdon Hardware, the loss was complete in both places.

The fire was exceedingly fierce, the heat intense, the flames high, and the fire spread rapidly.

There were many narrow escapes, but fortunately no serious injury was inflicted. The falling walls were a continuous menace to the firemen.

The firemen had given the alarm to the police, and the fire chief, at the forthcoming session of the legislature the law would be amended, so that gunpowder would be prohibited, given to the temporary abandonment of the vote on the total option.

The vote on the option was taken early in the morning, and there were no votes of the members of the league, but that temperature reform would be given to the vote on the total option.

The league had given the alarm to the police, and the fire chief, at the forthcoming session of the legislature the law would be amended, so that gunpowder would be prohibited, given to the temporary abandonment of the vote on the total option.

The vote on the option was taken early in the morning, and there were no votes of the members of the league, but that temperature reform would be given to the vote on the total option.

The chief topic of discussion was the shortening the vote on local option in the new districts, No. 2 and 3.

The members of the league expressed their desire that the bill be introduced by members of the legislature.

Existing license laws came in for criticism, the licensing of beer, wine and beer and wine, and the licensing of beer and wine.
